

WEST YORKSHIRE OUT OF COURT DISPOSAL SCRUTINY GROUP – SUMMARY OF MEETING 4th April 2018

An out of court disposal (OCD) is a method of resolving an investigation when the offender is known and when that offender admits the offence. An OCD can only be used in limited circumstances and it should reduce re-offending by enabling restorative and reparative justice. Nationally, there are a number of methods for dealing with offenders in this way. These are universal and include community resolutions, conditional cautioning, simple cautions, cannabis warnings and Penalty Notices for Disorder.

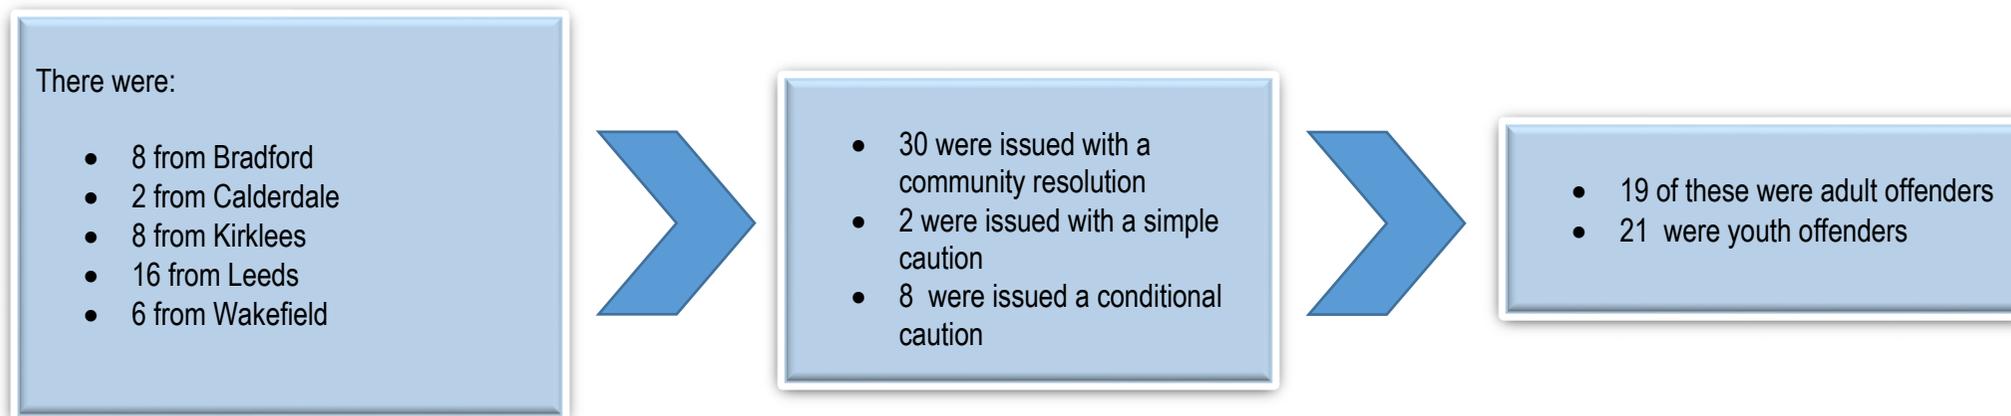

On 24 November 2014 West Yorkshire Police partially commenced implementation of a new simplified, two-tier model; the pilot only permits the use of conditional cautions and community resolutions.

The intention of the scrutiny panel is to provide transparency and accountability and an increase in public understanding, confidence and trust in how West Yorkshire Police use out of court disposals with particular focus on the delivery of appropriate and proportionate justice and ensuring redress for victims of crime as well as addressing the root causes of offending behaviour.

The scrutiny panel has no referral or appeals capability and is not intended to re-judge cases. It will assess the relevant processes, interactions and decisions to identify any continuous organisational learning.

How many offenders were considered?

What was the overall assessment of the disposals for offenders?

13 were deemed appropriate and consistent with relevant organisational policy and procedures

9 were deemed appropriate with observations

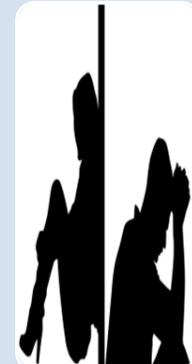

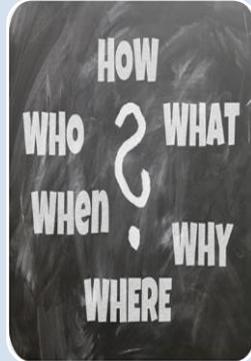

3 were deemed inappropriate and/or inconsistent with policy and procedures

There were 5 files where the panel failed to reach a conclusion, and further relevant information is requested.

What were the key themes from the meeting?

Restorative Justice.

In most cases there is no referral to restorative justice which may provide improved outcomes for victims and aid a potential reduction in reoffending. The panel now review the suitability of each case for a referral to Restorative Justice.

CPS Referral

A number of files have been routed through the Out of Court Disposal process that the Scrutiny Panel determined should have been referred to the CPS for a decision. The panel have seen a number of either-way offences that have not been referred.

Timeliness

The time taken from the offence to out of court disposal outcome is sometimes excessive. As the outcome is dependant upon age, some young people are receiving adult outcomes for offences whilst a youth. Other cases are just taking too long to reach a conclusion.

Decision Rationale

Good rationale and background information to explain why decisions are made is crucial to enable a fair scrutiny of cases and understand comparisons with other similar cases.

Victims Views

The views of the victim are crucial in delivering the correct outcome disposal. The victims views should be recorded upon all out of court disposals.

Serious Youth offences

The panel reviewed a number of cases of violence with injury in the youth section. of these 60% were considered correct and 2 required further information. Whilst the number of these case types is rising, the panel felt that most appeared to be dealt with at an appropriate level.

Conditions

Out of court disposals for low level shop theft that have a store ban or civil recovery as the conditions is not considered appropriate by the panel. Inventive use of conditions is encouraged. Such as community hours with the local Parks department where the offence took place. Further poor conditions included keeping a dog on a lead in the house.
